Course Description:
This studio class will address historical and contemporary photographic practices and issues in Great Britain. London’s museums, galleries, and institutions will be utilized; important British photographers will be invited to class to discuss their work, in past years this has included Martin Parr and Stephen Gill. Field trips to various locations such as the Victoria and Albert Museum, Stonehenge, Avebury, Lacock Abbey, Fox Talbot Museum, Getty Images will be an integral part of the course. Making photographs will be a central component of this class. Instruction in basic and advanced photographic techniques will be a daily part of this class. Each student will compile a photographic book, book reports, journal and portfolio as final projects.

Text
Instead of purchasing a book each student will spend approximately $100 in costs associated with the class. These costs may include train and bus fares, approximately $20.00 in transportation costs. You will have to spend approximately $80.00 on a Blurb book and portfolio that will become a permanent part of Midwestern State University. These works will be used for exhibitions and other projects associated with this class.
Course Layout

Each week we will:

1. Visit a museum, gallery or a private photographic institute.
2. Receive a lecture by a British photographer.
3. Have a photographic lesson and shoot at an important British Landmark.

Dress

On class days you must dress appropriately for the venue. No shorts, holes in your paints, or other improper dress.

Equipment for Class

Each student must have an adjustable digital camera of at least 12 megapixels. A laptop computer and Photoshop 6 or Photoshop CS cloud would be necessary for this class, CS cloud Photoshop can be “rented” by the month. Students might need to purchase a digital camera. Students will have to produce a book and print a portfolio.

Class Attendance

Class attendance is one of the most important components for this course. Students must attend each lecture and be actively involved with all segments of the course. Tardiness and disruptive behavior will affect your final grade. Your grade will be lowered by one full grade with each unexcused absence and a half letter grade by each tardy.
Grades

20%  Book
20%  Portfolio
20%  Book Reports
20%  Final Test
10%  Reading material for each class/class participation
10%  Journal

There will be a test on Friday, August 4, 2016. On this test day you will turn in your “Book Reviews” on ten photographers, a minimum of five pages. You will also write a half page response to ten of your academic experiences for a minimum of five total pages. These writings will come directly from your journal and will be turned in each week with the final copy due on July 31.

On or before September 16, 2016 you will turn in a portfolio and book. Your grade will be determined by the technical and aesthetic quality of your book and portfolio. Please produce the book using the web site blurb.com. In order to get your book back from Blurb it must be finished by September 2, 2016. You must tag your Blurb book with, “British Studies” and “Midwestern State University”. You will keep a photographic and written journal for this class that will be turned in on August 1. Class participation is an important aspect of this class, and it is necessary for you to fully engage in this course. All of these factors including attendance will determine your grade.

All work must be completed and turned in by September 16, 2016
